

VEGA

PRESS RELEASE – JUNE 12th 2011

Professional Golf Europe Ltd, the exclusive distributors of VEGA Golf Products, are proud to announce a great week of tournament golf by tour professional Philip Archer.

On the European Challenge Tour, Philip Archer put the past couple of frustrating seasons behind him to record a great victory in the Open Cotes d'Amor. Philip's 7 under total of 273, including a new course record 61 on Saturday, was enough to secure a 1 stroke victory and put him on track to bounce back to the main tour where he made a name for himself by finishing a career high 29th on the 2007 OOM whilst finishing 2nd twice.

Philip uses the VEGA VC-01 irons.

The VEGA forged VC-01 irons are made in Japan. The tight tolerance levels and a quality control level which is second to none, ensures perfection every time. VEGA products are world renowned for their stunning looks, feel and craftsmanship. The SC25, carbon steel heads, are forged from a single billet in the VEGA factory in Japan. VEGA believe the 1 piece forging provides superior feel and consistency. The cavity is fully CNC milled to ensure the clubface is consistent in thickness, eliminating hot spots and dead spots.

Professional Golf Europe Ltd are proud to distribute the VEGA line of golf products. Other lines distributed by Professional Golf Europe Ltd include Shimada, United, Radius, Iguana and Iomic. These products can be found through the PGE website, www.professionalgolfeurope.com and PGE can be contacted by the methods below:
